ALARM

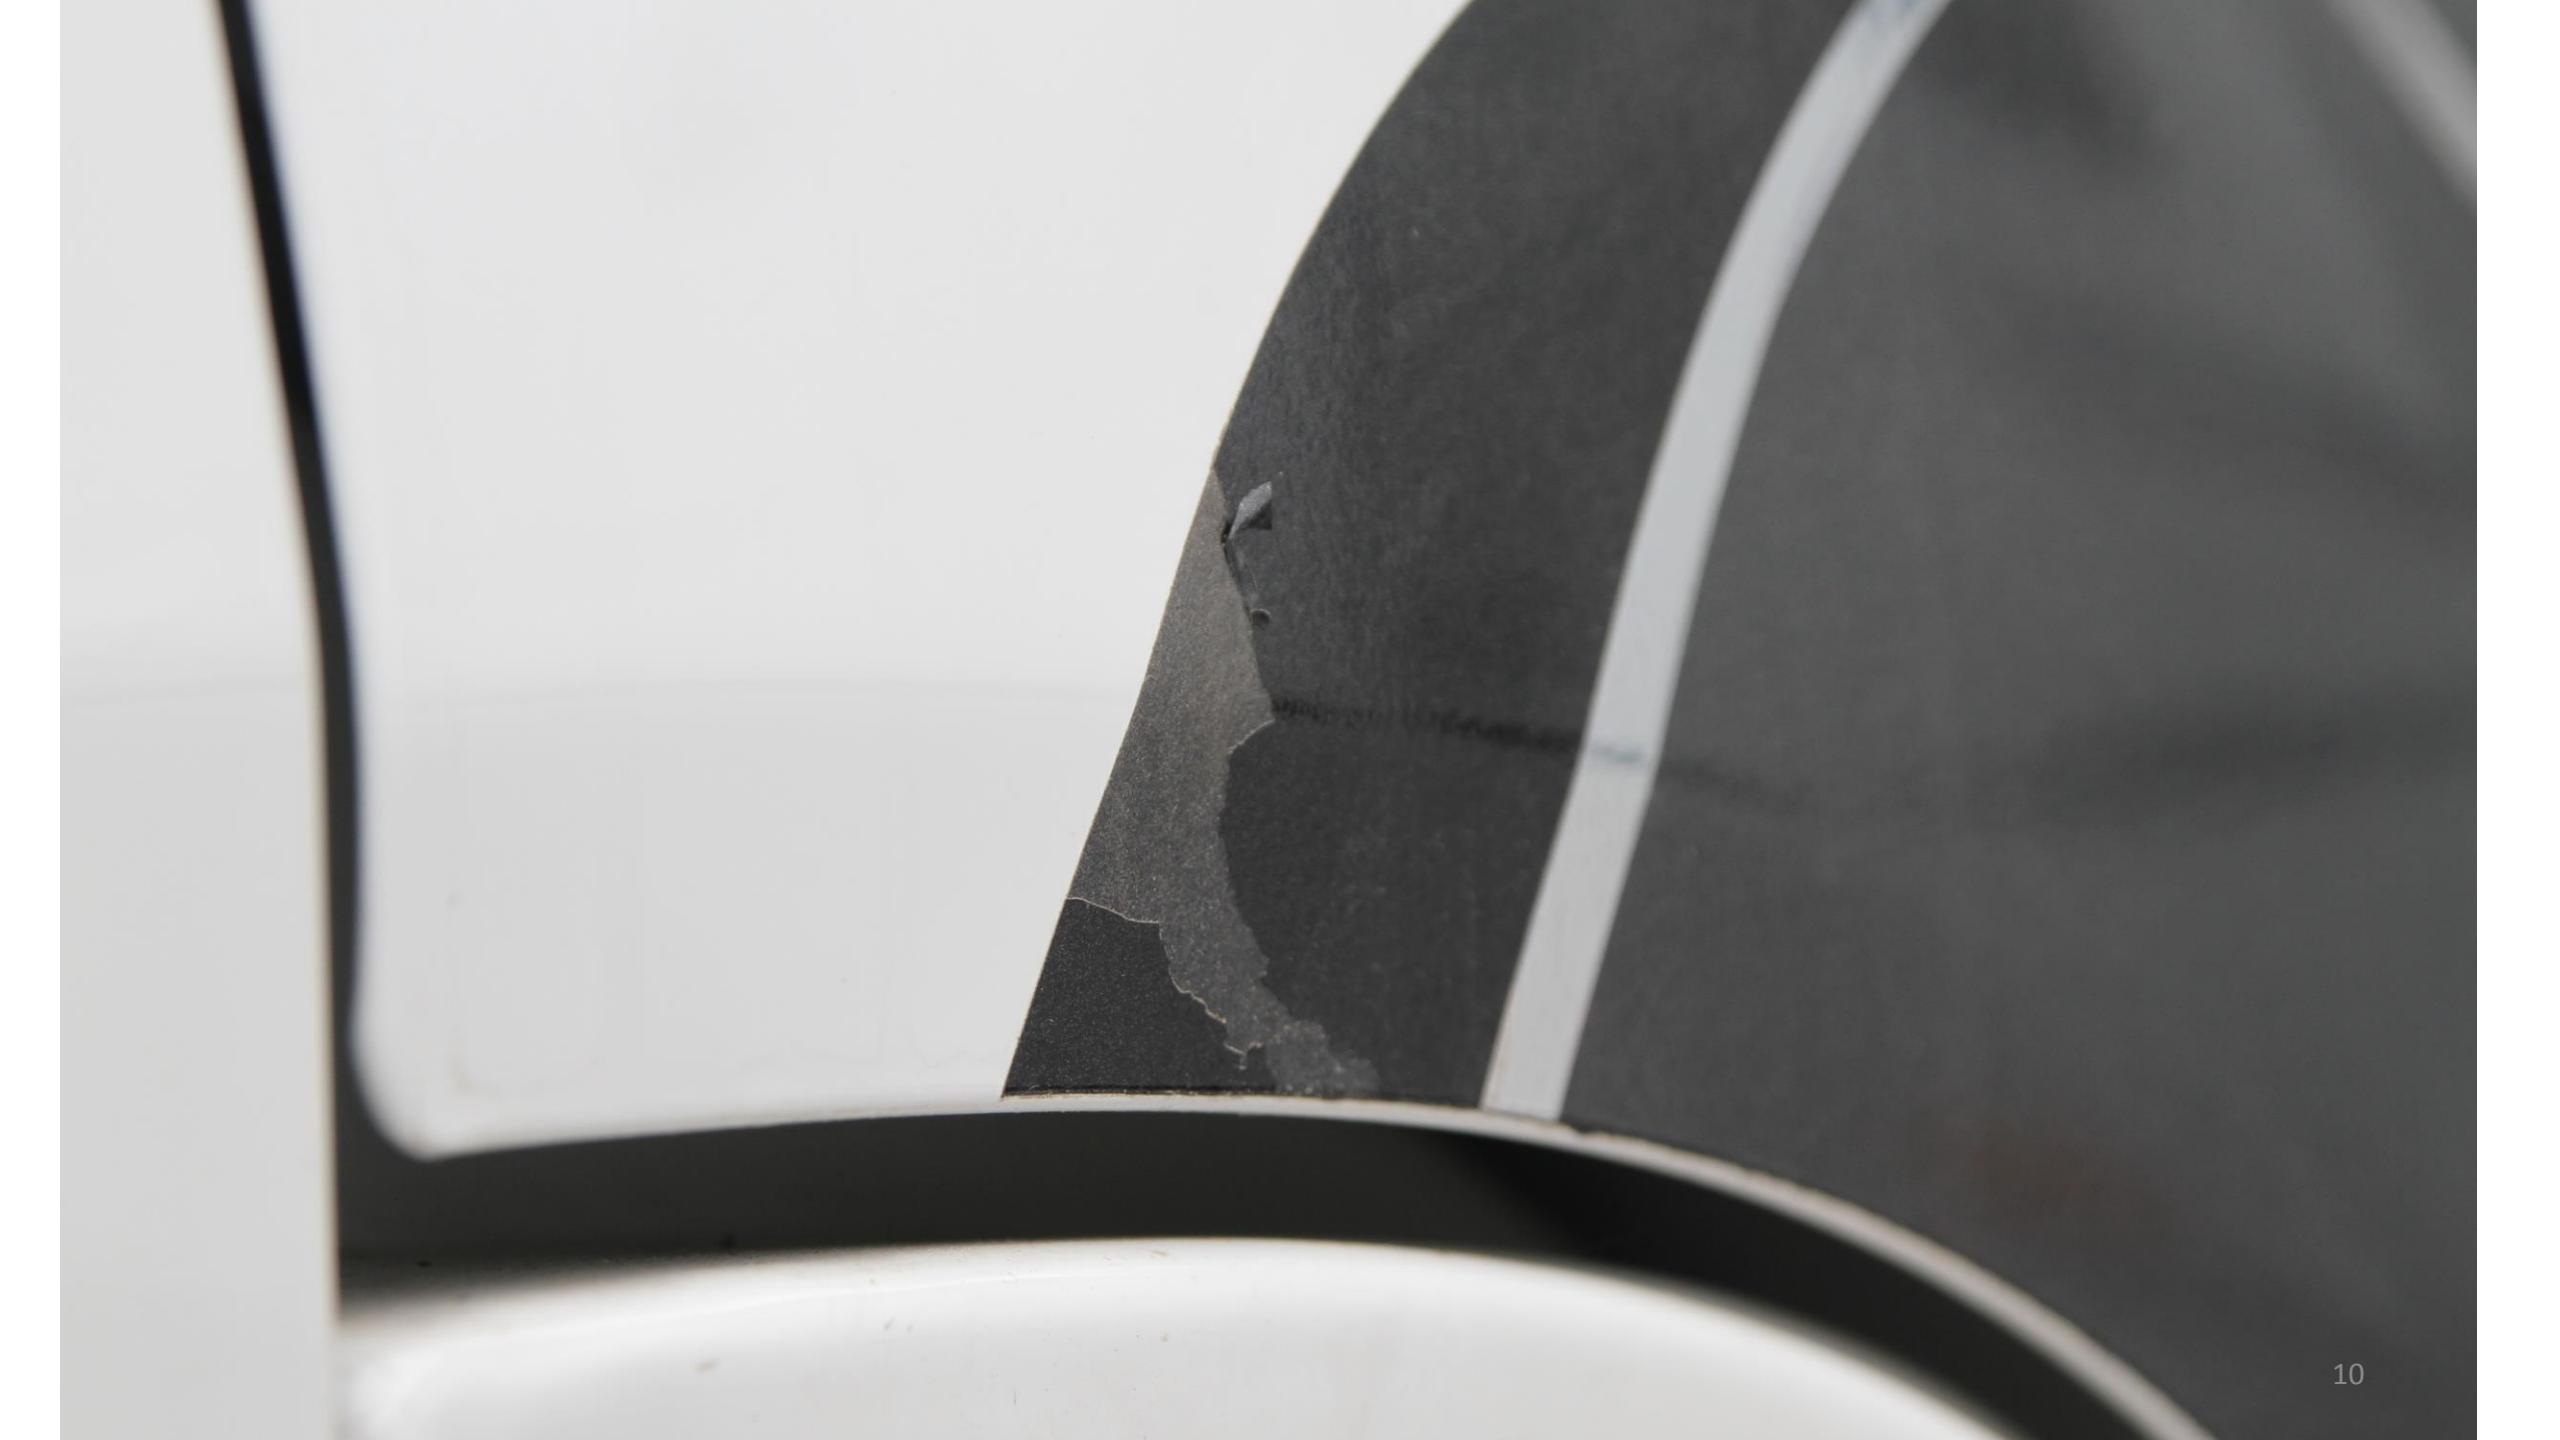

A close-up photograph of a white, curved surface, likely a car's hood or trunk. Two rectangular vents with slanted grilles are positioned horizontally near the top. Below them, the words "Travel Master" are embossed in a cursive script. The "T" in "Travel" has a distinctive arrowhead shape at its base. The surface is smooth and reflects light, suggesting a glossy finish. The background is dark and out of focus, showing what appears to be a windshield wiper mechanism.
